First Peoples at Evergreen describes people of racial and ethnic backgrounds commonly referred to in America as "minorities" or more recently as
"People of Color." In 1986, Evergreen students, staff and faculty members gathered together and named ourselves
First Peoples in recognition of our unique indigenous heritages. We are African Americans, Native American Indians and Alaskan Natives, Asian Americans, Pacific Islanders, and Chicanos/Latinos.

So, what's it really like to be a First People at Evergreen? There's a lot to learn and experience, but for a while, it can seem overwhelming or bewildering.
Some new students jump right in and participate in social or political activities sponsored by student organizations.
Others wait, watch, and test the waters.
First. We believe there is room for all
First Peoples to succeed at Evergreen.

FIRST PEOPLES

En el idioma de Evergreen, "First Peoples" describe a la gente comunmente llamada "minoría" o mas recientemente "personas de color" en EBUU. En 1986, los estudiantes, la facultad y el personal universitario adoptaron un nuevo nombre: "First Peoples." Este nombre reconoce el origen indigena de nuestras culturas.
Así pues, ¿cual es la realidad de ser un estudiante de
"First People" en Evergreen? Hay mucho que aprender y mucho con que experimentar. Al principio, sin embargo, puede parecer demasado, y hasta te puede confundir.
Algunos de los nuevos estudiantes se sienten muy integrados y participan en las actividades sociales y políticas patrocinadas por los diferentes grupos estudiantiles. Otros estudiantes prefieren esperar, observar y examinar el ambiente. Pero nosotros creemos que hará que tengan éxito en Evergreen.

FIRST PEOPLES

I am at Evergreen for an education. I am a Black woman who knows her goals and what to do to achieve them. I know that, as a Black woman, I have to face many obstacles, but I am ready to meet the challenge. Be secure in who you are and what you believe in. If you have that peace of mind, you'll be able to confront and deal with all that life at Evergreen presents to you.

As a person of mixed cultural heritages, I have had to struggle with Evergreen as a political, social and academic institution. However, Evergreen's approach to education has given me the freedom to study what I feel is necessary, and through my academic and political struggles, have expanded my consciousness as a Person of Color.

The First Peoples Coalition are students, staff and faculty of color at Evergreen. Often spearheaded by the First Peoples student organizations, we gather for potlucks, community forums, political discussions and celebrations. Traditional annual gatherings include the Day of Absence and First Peoples Graduation. During the Day of Absence, the First Peoples Coalition spends the entire day away from the Olympia campus to welcome new members, renew acquaintances and to discuss issues that affect the Community of Color. In June, we celebrate the end of the academic year with First Peoples Graduation. We recognize those who have made significant contributions to the Coalition and honor the achievements of our graduates.

FIRST PEOPLES COMMUNITY

Evergreen esta localizado en las afueras de la ciudad de Olympia, en el distrito de Thurston. La distribución étnica de la ciudad es 9.6% y 8.1% para el distrito. El doce por ciento de los 3.291 estudiantes matriculados en el centro universitario de Olympia en otoño de 1992 fueron estudiantes de "First Peoples." En junio de 1993, 143 estudiantes de "First Peoples" recibieron su título universitario. 13% por ciento del personal universitario y 24% de la facultad son personas del "First Peoples."

La Coalición de "First Peoples" incluye estudiantes, profesores y miembros del personal universitario de Evergreen. Frecuentemente los grupos estudiantiles patrocinan "potlucks," reuniones, discusiones de política, y fiestas. Una vez al año, la comunidad celebra el "Día de Ausencia," que es una oportunidad para conocer a nuevos miembros, reestablecer las previas amistades, y discutir puntos de importancia. Celebramos el final del año académico con una fiesta especial para honrar a los graduados y para reconocer las contribuciones de individuos a la comunidad.

My first impression of the college? I thought, 'It's all concrete, and in the woods! I hope I don't get claustrophobic, I might want to run away.' But that changed — I really enjoy my classes and books and that I have to write a lot. I got a chance to write about personal issues in my program. I want to be a doctor, so being able to address my personal concerns will enable me to help others.

FIRST PEOPLES' RECRUITMENT ...

takes great pride in the services provided to prospective students and their family members. We believe that information is "power," and want you to be able to make powerful choices. We want our services to be as inclusive as possible, without being intrusive.

First Peoples' Recruitment supplements the advising provided by the Office of Admissions by sending the monthly News & Notes to let you know what's happening in the admissions' process, when our representatives will visit your Washington state community, and what other student services can offer you at Evergreen. We will also:

- contact you directly. Our staff and faculty will call you to find out if you have any questions about the campus or the curriculum ...
- invite you to spend a day on campus — hosted by a currently enrolled Evergreen student. Sit in lecture or seminar; sample the campus cuisine and take a tour of our facilities. Perhaps we can schedule an appointment for you to meet with one of our faculty members ...
- keep you apprised of your admission application review. Is your file complete? What's missing? When will you need to pay your advance tuition deposit? ...
- assist you with your scholarship search process. We research scholarships offered by independent foundations and have a variety of announcements and application forms available for your use. Every January, the Evergreen Foundation Scholarship flyers are published and 15 scholarships are offered to new Students of Color...
- provide you with the connection to other student services: Financial Aid, Housing, Academic Planning and Experiential Learning, Career Development, Learning Resource Center, Student Activities, Recreation and Athletics, First Peoples Advising Service.

Sometimes currently enrolled Evergreen students continue to use our office as a sounding board or safe haven — a place they know they can come for a serious conversation or a lot of laughter. We appreciate their support and enthusiasm and hope you will soon be among them.

Además:

- te llamamos directamente, para que tengas la oportunidad de hablar con uno de los profesores, o con un consejero que pueda responder a tus preguntas acerca de los cursos académicos o la vida social de los estudiantes...
- te invitamos a pasar un día en la universidad, hospedado por uno de los estudiantes universitarios. De esta manera puedes observar un seminario o una conferencia, comer en la cafetería y participar en el recorrido de los edificios universitarios. Si es posible, te podemos ofrecer una entrevista con uno de los profesores...
- te mantendremos informado del progreso de tu matrícula, de los documentos requeridos que han sido recibidos y de cuándo tienes que pagar el costo de la enseñanza...
- te ayudamos en la búsqueda de becas. Nuestra oficina tiene información sobre nuevas becas ofrecidas por fundaciones independientes, de las cuales tenemos a tu disposición diversos formularios. En enero se publica un folleto con las becas ofrecidas por la "Evergreen Foundation" para los nuevos estudiantes de "First Peoples"...
- te ayudamos a conocer otras oficinas de la universidad: Financial Aid, Housing, Academic Planning and Experiential Learning, Career Development, Learning Resource Center, Student Activities, Recreation and Athletics, and First Peoples Advising Service.

Algunos estudiantes de "First Peoples" siguen visitando nuestra oficina después que se han matriculado porque es un ambiente que se presta para discutir con confianza cosas serias igual que divertidas. ## STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS AT EVERGREEN

Evergreen's student organizations are valuable sources of cultural enrichment, personal growth, lasting friendships and solidarity. Involvement can help you learn to more effectively work within groups and with other organizations while also helping you develop leadership skills. Student fees fund more than 40 active student groups, offering a wide variety of opportunities for your participation.

Organizations like Asian Students in Alliance (ASIA), MEChA, Native Students in Alliance, Umoja, Women of Color Coalition — are coordinated by Students of Color for Students of Color. These organizations, active throughout the academic year, produce cross-cultural events; bring speakers, films, and entertainment for the community; sponsor conferences and celebrations; and play an integral role in the college's goals of enhancing cultural diversity and student empowerment.

At Evergreen, you'll find that student organizations are more than just "clubs" or social alliances. Of course they provide activities and opportunities for fun and social interaction, but they also provide cultural, educational, recreational and spiritual services to students. Working with First Peoples Advising Service, and with the Community of Color, these First Peoples Student Organizations conduct important work against racism and harassment and help the entire community understand, welcome, and honor diversity. Involvement can give you one of your best and most worthwhile experiences as a student.

Student organization offices are located on the third floor of the College Activities Building, along with the Student Activities' professional staff, who will help you get connected with all of the student groups and find out what's happening on campus. The staff also assist in interpretation of campus policies and procedures or local, state and federal laws as they pertain to campus issues (permits for vendors, political campaigning, spending of state funds for student activities, etc.), and assist with developing student-initiated programs and activities.

First Peoples Student Organizations include:

I like creating challenges and exploring pathways that lead me to a greater understanding of self and the world around me. The atmosphere is one for the entrepreneur. You can basically do whatever you can imagine. Freedom is a big thing - with it comes responsibility for your own actions.

FIRST PEOPLES ADVISING SERVICE

We hold fundamental beliefs about Evergreen and the needs of Students of Color. These beliefs are the foundation for our services. As a publicly funded institution subject to the laws and policies of the larger society, we see the college struggling with the racism that informs its existence. Our service is based on the belief that we can provide processes and support that will lessen the impact of acts of discrimination that will confront Students of Color. We offer the following:

The Mentoring Program ... as a new student, you can meet with a staff or faculty member of your choice on a regular basis; someone who has been here a while and knows Evergreen. Your interactions may be academically or socially oriented, or may involve advice on career options.

You will also become aware of our Peer Support Program ... this is a staff of trained, upper-division students available to answer questions, make referrals, lend advocacy or support. The student staff also organizes workshops and social gatherings.

Our First Peoples Newsletter ... will keep you up-to-date on what is currently happening in the community. We very much encourage your involvement and contribution to this publication, in the form of articles, creative writing, poetry or whatever else you would like to let the Community of Color know about.

We provide the First Peoples Student Organizations with culturally specific advising and support. We believe it's important to bring the history and tradition of Evergreen's First Peoples forward with each new succession of coordinators as they develop plans and activities. We also assist in coalition building to maintain connections with the Community of Color, as well as with other student organizations.

We also have full-time staff available for counseling, advising and advocacy, on a drop-in or appointment basis.

Your involvement, on whatever level you choose, will likely be richly rewarding. We are here to support you through the difficult times, as well as to celebrate your successes. You can make lasting friendships, help build community, and truly feel a part of Evergreen.

fundamento de los servicios que ofrecemos. Evergreen, como universidad pública sujeta a las leyes de la sociedad en general, también se esfuerza para combatir el racismo que existe en nuestra sociedad. Nosotros creemos que los servicios que ofrecemos pueden disminuir el impacto de actos de discriminación que los estudiantes de "First Peoples" pueden experimentar. Esto servicios son:

Mentoring Program ... como estudiante nuevo, puedes elegir un profesor o un miembro del personal universitario como consultor. Tus conversaciones pueden ser acerca de asuntos académicos o sociales, o tal vez acerca de oportunidades de diferentes carreras.

También puedes contar con el Peer Support Program. Estos son estudiantes del tercer o cuarto año entrenados para responder a tus preguntas, introducirte a otras oficinas, y darte apoyo. Estos estudiantes organizan talleres y actividades sociales.

También ayudamos a establecer contacto entre la comunidad de color y otras organizaciones estudiantiles.

También tenemos varios consejeros profesionales, que te pueden ayudar con o sin cita. Tu participación, grande o pequeña, será bien recompensada. Estamos aquí para ayudarte en tus momentos difíciles y para felicitarte en tus éxitos. Tendrás la oportunidad de hacer amistades para el resto de tu vida, de contribuir al espíritu comunitario, y de sentirte verdaderamente integrado a Evergreen.

As a coordinator for Native Students in Alliance, I learned a lot about working with other ethnic students. It really is difficult to try to unify such a diverse group because our politics are different and our ideas about our ethnic identity are different. I found the First Peoples Community to be a supportive and fun environment. I learned as much, or more, by being involved with the community as I did in the classroom.
