Kenneth B. Mayer, currently director of admissions for Pacific University, Forest Grove, Oregon, has been named to a similar post at The Evergreen State College.

The appointment, effective September 15, carries with it prime responsibility for all aspects of recruitment and admission of students, according to Vice President and Provost Edward J. Kormondy.

A graduate of the University of California at Berkeley, Mayer has served as admissions director at Pacific University for the past two years. Prior to that he was Pacific's associate dean of admissions, with responsibilities for recruiting, counseling and advising students.

Mayer, 44, also has seven years' experience as a high school counselor, two years' experience as a curriculum assistant to a California high school principal, and eight years' high school teaching experience. He is a United States Army veteran.

Meanwhile, Kormondy said, Evergreen is continuing a nationwide search for a registrar, a position recently vacated by Perrin Smith.
