Jovana J. Brown, head reference librarian for the University of California at Santa Cruz, has been named Dean of Library Services at The Evergreen State College.

The appointment, announced by Vice President and Provost Edward J. Kormondy, is effective June 15, 1974, and carries with it full responsibility for the operational management and programmatic development of the Evergreen library. Ms. Brown will also serve as a member of the faculty in library service.

An associate librarian at the University of California, Santa Cruz, since 1970, Ms. Brown has also served as a librarian at the University of San Francisco, the University of California at Berkeley, and the University of Edinburgh, Scotland. She has also taught at the University of San Francisco and at California State University in San Jose.

Ms. Brown received her bachelor of arts in political science from the University of California at Riverside in 1949. She received two master degrees--one in political science in 1967, the other in library science in 1965--from the University of California at Berkeley, where she also completed her doctorate in librarianship in 1971.

Her appointment climaxes an eight-month national search to replace former Library Dean James Holly.
