Two afternoons and evenings of folk music are on tap at The Evergreen State College this week. Scott Hambly, a Los Angeles Bluegrass musician, will play his mandolin and banjo Monday night at 8 o'clock in the reference alcove of the library. He will also conduct a two-hour workshop beginning at 2 Monday afternoon in the College Activities Building.

Mike and Alice Seeger, brother and sister-in-law of folksinger Pete Seeger will bring souther appalachian-style music to Evergreen Tuesday. They'll present a two-hour workshop in the College Activities Building beginning at 2 o'clock, and will stage a concert at 7 o'clock in the fourth floor of the library. They will also play for a nine o'clock square dance in the same location.

All performances by the folk musicians are free and the public is cordially invited.
