"Creation versus Evolution" will be the topic of a February 22 lecture at The Evergreen State College. The presentation by Duane T. Gish, associate director of the Institute for Creation Research, San Diego, California, will begin at 8:30 a.m. in Lecture Hall One.

A biochemist, Gish did post graduate work at Cornell University Medical Center and later served as an assistant professor of Biochemistry at that institution. He has also been a member of the research staff of the Virus Laboratory of the University of California, Berkeley, and of the research staff of The Upjohn Company, Kalamazoo, Michigan. He has published numerous technical articles and has written and lectured extensively on the subjective of scientific evidence against evolution.

His talk, sponsored by the Evergreen Christian Fellowship, is free and open to the public.
