FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
February 4, 1985

Representatives from the International Indian Treaty Council (IITC) will be holding a forum at The Evergreen State College Monday February 11, in Lecture Hall 1 at 1:30 pm. The IITC is considering Evergreen as the sight of their 11th annual conference, and the forum is designed to inform the public of the IITC which was formed in 1975 as a Non Governmental Organization within The United Nations. There will also be a slide presentation of the history of the IITC, as well as a documentary of The Longest Walk 1978, in which 30,000 Native Americans and supporters marched upon Washington D.C. from San Fransisco to protest 11 pieces of legislation that would terminate government support to Indian Reservations. Representatives include Janet McCloud from the Northwest Indian Womens Circle; Larry Anderson Dine Nation, from American Indian Movement; Russell Means Lakota Nation, from American Indian Movement and Yellow Thunder Camp; Bill Means Lakota Nation, from American Indian Movement. Bill is also the director of the International Indian Treaty Council. This event is sponsored by The Northwest Indian Center, Evergreen Political Information Center (EPIC), MEChA, and the Native Americans Studies Program.
