Loren Sears, a creative screen artist from San Francisco, has received a Winter Quarter appointment to the faculty of The Evergreen State College.

Currently director of Canyon Cinema Cooperative in San Francisco, Sears is a 1961 graduate of the University of Oregon, where he received a bachelor's degree in physics. He also has done graduate studies in physics and philosophy at Syracuse University and in communications sciences at the University of Michigan.

Sears, a former programmer for the Service Bureau Corporation of IBM and for the High Energy Physics Group at the University of Michigan, has served as artist-in-residence at KQED-TV and is founder of the E.A.T. Video Workshop both in San Francisco.

The 30-year-old Sears has presented one-man video shows in San Francisco, New York, Philadelphia and at Yale University. He also has produced a number of 16 millimeter films and several videotaped programs.
