

AlumNews

An Open Letter to Our Alums

The Evergreen State College
August, 1982

Dear Alum:

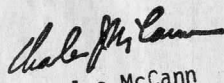

Your alma mater really needs you now. We all know that Evergreen's first decade was full of growth, recognition, experimentation and excellence. We also know that there have been skeptics and detractors who have questioned Evergreen's difference and have challenged our way of doing things.

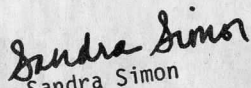

Nevertheless, together we've managed to earn a national reputation for academic leadership for this place. However, we feel caught in a real bind. We're mandated to grow and to be Washington's "alternative" college and yet each time we move forward, we also lose some ground due to budget reductions, uninformed opinions, and the perception that we need to be more traditional for today's student.

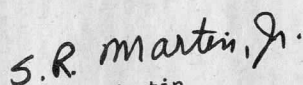

We need your help! We need you -- the "product" of an Evergreen education -- to spread the word about the value of your Evergreen experience. You know best what we do best. Help us share that information with prospective students and their families and with others who could influence Evergreen's future.

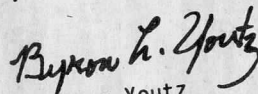

If you're asking "How can I help?", please read the article on the back page and send back the form.

Thanks for joining with us in our efforts to keep Evergreen alive and growing.

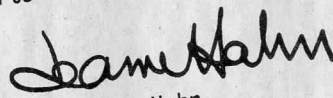

Charles McCann

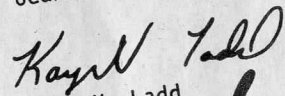

Sandra Simon

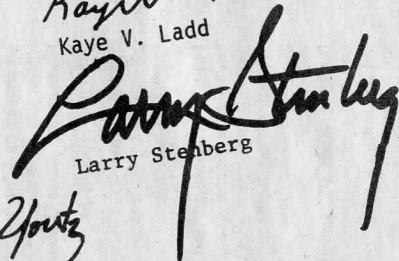

Rudy Martin

Byron Youtz

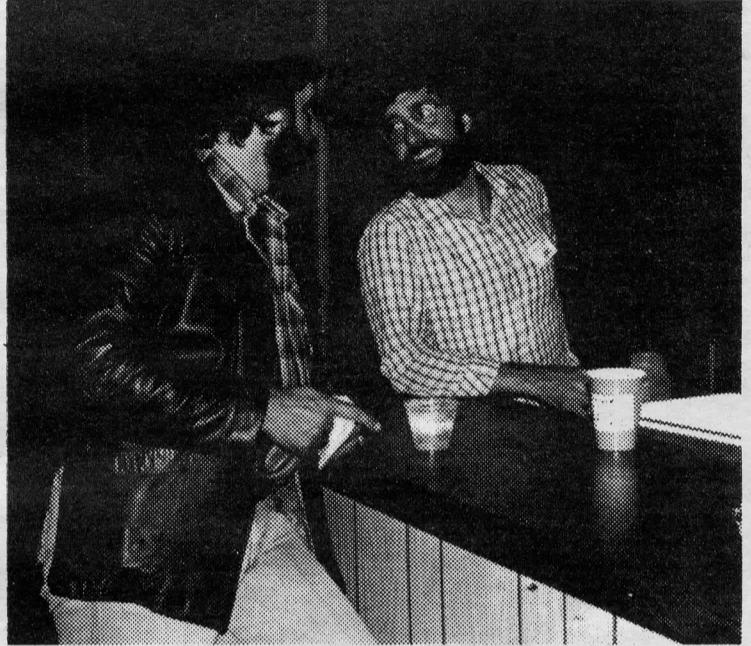

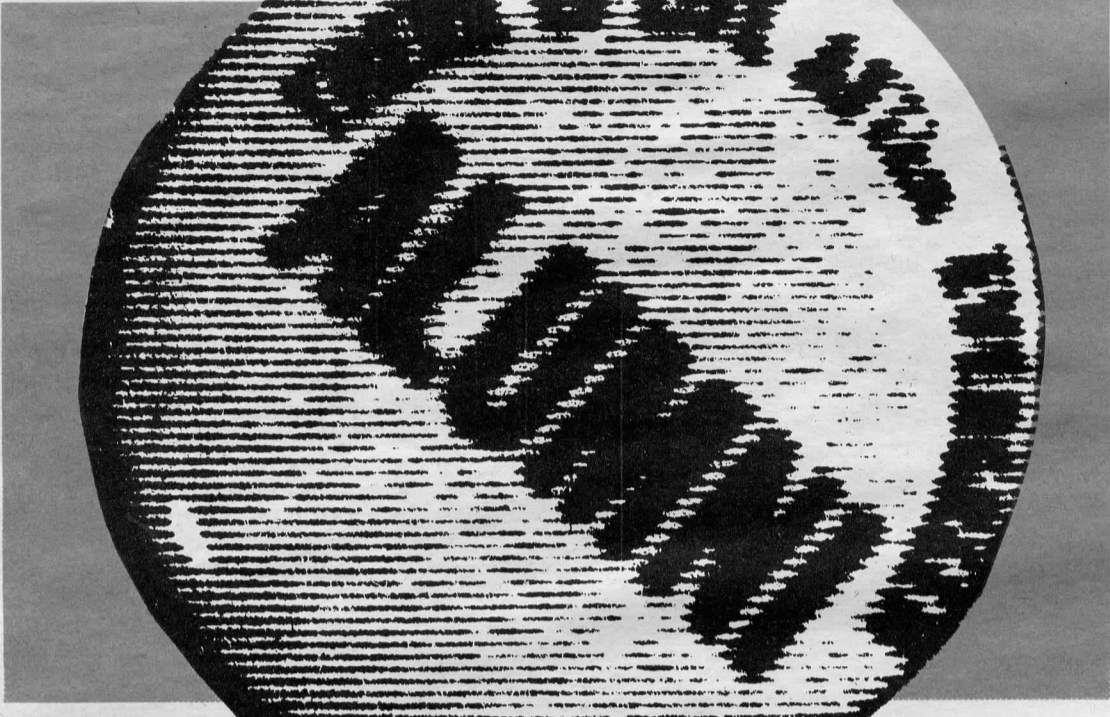

Olympia, Washington 98505

Jeanne Hahn

Kaye V. Ladd

Larry Stenberg

AlumNews

Alumni Board members Mike Hall and George Schroeder discuss the merits (?) of the Reunion's now infamous Geoduck Sludge.

Max Whipps, '81, and Mary Potegal are joined in matrimony during the festivities at Super Saturday last June 5. The Rev. Howard Caesar is conducting the ceremony, while faculty member Earle McNeil at left (behind Caesar) and Ms. Potegal's daughter, Hilde, at right are standing up for the bride and groom.

Maxwell and Mary United in Super Wedding

Just a few strangers stopped by. Someone tried to peddle free kittens. And, the bride's eight-year-old son thought he was waiting for a helicopter ride, rather than attending a significant ceremony.

Other than those few distractions, the wedding of Evergreen graduate Maxwell Whipps and Mary Potegal was without interruption—despite the fact it was conducted in the midst of Evergreen's Super Saturday celebration attended by more than 20,000 persons on June 5.

"It was wonderful fun," the bridegroom reports. "Many of our guests had never been to a Super Saturday celebration before—and they loved it. Their children had lots to do and we staged the reception all over campus, with a few stops at the Beer Garden. We all enjoyed the festivities and were delighted we had chosen that day and setting in which to be married."

The decision to do so got started, as you might suspect, as a joke.

Maxwell was determined to have his former faculty member and close friend Earle McNeil serve as his best man. After the date was set for June 5, the wedding participants realized their date conflicted with Evergreen's annual spring celebration for which McNeil was cochair of the arts and crafts activities. Someone with tongue firmly stuck in cheek suggested having the wedding as part of the festivities.

"The more we thought about it, the better it sounded," reports Maxwell. "As a former military man who spent three years attending Evergreen, I'd come to view it as part of my extended family anyway. To my surprise, Mary really liked the idea too, so we went for it."

Seventy friends—and a few strangers—gathered outside the Seminar Building that afternoon. The helicopter rides stopped for an hour while the Reverend Howard Caesar of Olympia's Unity Church led the ceremony uniting Maxwell and Mary.

"Mary's son was puzzled by it all," laughs Maxwell. "He thought we were quietly waiting for a helicopter ride—and didn't realize until we told him that we had just gotten married."

Now settled just outside of Olympia, Maxwell, who graduated in 1981 with studies in counseling psychology, is working as a volunteer at the Army Community Service Center in Fort Lewis, while Mary, a graduate of Ripon College in Wisconsin, works as a substitute teacher and a part-time bookkeeper.

Both have received what he calls "lots of feedback" on their unusual wedding. "It was a perfect setting," he concludes. "We felt it beautifully matched the spirit in which we viewed our marriage."

Oct. 9 Reunion Focuses on "Zen and the Art of Geoduck Maintenance"

If the end of summer symbolizes the birth of the blues for you, your Alumni Association has just the cure—the 1982 Alumni Reunion scheduled for Saturday, October 9, at Evergreen.

Irreverently called "Zen and the Art of Geoduck Maintenance" or alternately "Self Help in the '80s," this multi-faceted, day-long festivity promises something for everyone—from speeches to movies, workshops to elections, soccer games to dancing.

Former President Charles McCann will welcome alums to campus with a timely greeting Saturday morning, followed by a stimulating address by an as yet unselected keynote speaker and the Alumni Association business meeting at which bylaw changes may be considered, new board members elected, and membership news and views shared.

Afternoon activities will offer alums a chance to gain practical advice on everything from home energy systems to career planning, stress management to health care. Or, the more athletically inclined can enjoy Geoduck soccer competition while they munch a lunch prepared by the intercollegiate athletics program.

The now infamous Geoduck Sludge will enrich (or endanger) later afternoon happy hours, complemented with "top of the campus" dining on the fourth floor of the library and a budget-fitting film festival which carries an admission fee of a mere 25¢.

Festivities conclude Saturday night with dancing to music by a top-name Seattle band.

More, up-to-the-minute details and registration forms for Reunion '82 will be in your mailbox soon. An overnight housing referral service will be available for out-of-towners and car pools from Seattle will also be arranged.

For complete information, call or write the Alumni Office.

Board Nominations Open

Would you like to get more involved in the Alumni Association? Why not run for a position on the Board of Directors?

The Nominations Committee is currently soliciting nominations for 12 positions, most of which run for two years, though some one-year terms are available to fill vacancies caused by resignations.

Board members attend four quarterly business meetings, participate in a fall retreat to plan the year's activities, and are expected to be active members on at least one of the following committees: Programs, Communications, Admissions, Membership, Legislative Relations, or Financial Affairs.

Nominations may only be made by Alumni Association members, and should be submitted in writing by September 15 to the Nominations Committee, c/o Alumni Office, The Evergreen State College, Olympia, WA 98505. Elections will take place on October 9, during the annual business meeting at the reunion.

If you don't have time to serve on the Board, please consider joining one of the committees. No election is necessary; just volunteer some of your time to barbecue chicken, lobby a legislator, write an article for the AlumNews, etc.

Call the Alumni office, and Ellie will connect you with the appropriate committee chair.

Harbor Fair Chicken Chefs Sought

Labor Day traditionally signals a three-day weekend, kids returning to school, and the end of summer. Add to these a new tradition—Alumni barbecued chicken at Olympia's Harbor Fair.

September 4 and 5, we'll be hawking our delicious chicken among arts and crafts booths during the Harbor Fair festival, at Olympia's waterfront Percival Park. We hope to make this year's chicken sale even more profitable than last year's. And—you guessed it—we need volunteers to work the alumni booth.

More than 30 volunteers worked at the June Super Saturday chicken barbecue, where we cleared $543 for the Alumni Association. July saw stalwart alumni volunteers take the barbecue show to Tenino's Oregon Trail Days festival, where we sold more savory fowl.

At Harbor Fair, we're looking forward to clear skies, teams of enthusiastic volunteers, and flocks of chicken sales. If you're able to volunteer for a three-hour shift, please contact Ellie in the Alumni Office at 866-6566. See you at Harbor Fair!

AlumNotes

Vera Adderley '79, Hoquiam, WA, is employed with Youth Help as a coordinator of Drug and Alcohol Prevention.

Carolyn Ansell '80, Bend, OR, is employed as a river guide for Sun Country Tours, guiding river trips on the Deschutes River out of Bend. She is applying to Yale to receive her M.S. Nurse Practitioner degree in Nursing/Midwifery. She is married to TESC alum Simon Ansell, who is also a river guide and cross-country ski instructor. They have a son born last September.

Jonathan Aragorn '81, Olympia, is a food handler for Capitol Campus Canteen. He is applying to graduate school to receive his M.A. degree in psychotherapy. He is also involved in church welfare, teaching youth and doing missionary work in addition to studying for the priesthood.

Harriet Arnold '81, Redmond, WA, is a substitute teacher in the Lake Washington School District.

Susan Ball '77, Leavenworth, WA, has just completed one year of graduate study in wildlife biology at Washington State University and is working this summer as a wildlife biologist on a mountain goat research project with the Washington State Department of Game at Lake Chelan. Susan has recently received a $20,000 fellowship plus tuition waiver from Robert Redford's Institute of Resource Management for two years of graduate study at WSU.

Shelly Baxter '82, has received a full-ride fellowship to complete a graduate degree in economics at the University of Notre Dame.

Scott Benedict '80, Federal Heights, CO, is employed by The Junction Eating Place. He is applying to the University of Colorado (Denver) to obtain his masters degree in architecture.

Jeanne Bereiter '81, Burnaby, B.C., Canada, will attend McGill University in September to begin working toward her M.D.

Knute "Skip" Berger '76, Bainbridge Island, WA, is employed in the development office of The Bob Hope International Heart Research Institute. Skip writes that he and his wife, Diane Hucks Berger, '75, are the proud parents of twins, born in early May.

Carla Black '81, Seattle, is an assistant bicycle planner for the City of Seattle. She is active in the Lake Washington Rowing Club, treasurer of the Green Lake Crew Advisory Council, and sings in her church choir.

Linda Bookey '80, Bellevue, WA, is employed as a legal executive secretary for G.N.A., a life insurance company. She has just received her life insurance license and was married on June 19, to Dave Gerstenberger '80.

Ellen Brucker '79, Hanover, N.H., is working at the Dartmouth-Hitchcock Medical Center as editor of the Hitchcock staff newsletter. She was married in April, to Brian Cain, a printer in Sharon, Vermont. They live in a solar-design house at the top of a hill at the end of the town road.

Barbara Brundage '81, is a medical secretary for Olympia Urologists. She has been a substitute teacher for the Business Education department at Olympia High School.

Eric Buck '80, Camden, ME, is employed by Whittemore & Williams Yacht Management Service as a relief skipper. He is in charge of a 57-foot ketch for the summer and will serve as mate thereafter. He has worked for Hurricane Island Outward Bound School for three years and intends to do so again.

Patricia Caffrey '81, New Haven, CT, serves as the development director for the Connecticut Fund for the Environment. She is in charge of fund-raising, membership development, fiscal management, volunteer coordination, newsletter production.

Kenneth Cain '81, Olympia, works as a musician for Jackson Prairie Band.

Vicki Caparoon '80, Olympia, is project coordinator for Olympia R/UDAT. Her duties for this nonprofit organization include coordinating activities, planning, and administration for efforts to revitalize downtown Olympia.

Carol Jean Cordy, Seattle, is attending the University of Washington to obtain her M.D.

Anna Coggan '79, Jerusalem, Israel, is working for the Information Department of the World Zionist Organization. Anna has recently been appointed assistant to the director of the Israel Science Caravan, an Israeli outreach and goodwill project scheduled to visit the Pacific Northwest in the spring of 1983.

Joan Cromwell '80, Olympia, is a substitute teacher for local elementary schools.

Kathleen Curry '80, Aberdeen, WA, is self-employed as a private therapist.

Charles F. Davis '74, Seattle, completed his masters in nonformal education at Michigan State University in June, and is presently project director for National Science Foundation Grant, "Playground Physics."

Diane De Moulin '80, Costa Mesa, CA, has been promoted to buyer for three Nordstrom stores in California.

Pat des Chene '81, Olympia, is employed in Evergreen's Registrar's Office. She has been accepted to Washington State University for this fall when she'll begin studying for her degree in veterinary medicine. She is involved in the Olympia Folkdancers, and NARAL.

R. June Des Rochers '78, Vancouver, WA, has recently become a Volunteer in Service to America (VISTA).

Beverly A. Dittrich '80, Olympia, is employed by Radiance as a massage therapist. She is also self-employed as an astrology teacher and counselor. She is actively involved in OWN (Olympia Wellness Network) and is a member of the American Federation of Astrologers.

Scott Englander '81, Pavilion, N.Y., is living on a farm near Pavilion doing carpentry and farm-related work and working with an architect on solar design and engineering in Rochester.

Peter Epperson '81, Boulder, CO, is assistant director for public relations and marketing at the Denver Center Theatre Company.

William G. Ferris '79, Pasadena, CA, is attending the Art Center: College of Design, seeking a BA degree in photography.

Gary Fisher '81, Spokane, WA, is employed by the Sisters of Providence as a programmer/analyst.

Bob Foster '80, Portland, OR, is a news photographer for KATU TV, Portland.

John Foster '79, Olympia, is the coordinator/editor for the Lost Music Network which provides information about independently produced music.

Richard Fowler, Olympia, is employed by The Boeing Company as a technical aid analyst. He is attending the University of Washington studying video engineering.

Steve Francis '79, Seattle, has been accepted to Notre Dame University graduate program to study economic development. He also received a Schmitt Fellowship, which waives tuition and pays a $4200 stipend.

Marya Fuller '80, Olympia, is employed as a legal assistant in a local law office. She conducts legal research and drafts pleadings and correspondence. She has been accepted to the University of Washington School of Law this fall.

David Gallagher '78, Stamford, CT, is seeking a doctorate in political science at Columbia University.

David Gerstenberger '80, Bellevue, WA, is employed by ISDS of Seattle as a computer programmer in software for the process control of Powell River Pulp and Paper Mill.

Jim Gibson '81, Tacoma, WA, is employed by Vlahovich Design Associates as a designer in graphic and interior design.

Jim Gilfix '81, Anchorage, AK, spent the first summer after graduation processing salmon in Petersburg, AK, and then spent time traveling around the state. He has now settled in Anchorage where he has a brand new job with the Alaska Psychiatric Institute as an aide. Jim has lost his address book. He says he'd like to hear from anyone who cares to write. His address is: 825 I Street #4, Anchorage, AK 99501.

Roland Hamel '79, Tacoma, WA, is employed by Western State Hospital as a hospital attendant. He is working on a volume of poetry in his spare time.

Carmen Hanna '81, has been accepted to Pacific Lutheran University in a master's program in Marriage and Family Therapy for fall.

John Hennessey '77, Hanover, NH, is a candidate for a master's degree in computer and information science at Dartmouth College.

Beverly Hermanson '81, Olympia, is an administrative assistant for the Commission for Vocational Education. She is involved in technical assistance to local education agencies, planning, budgeting, labor relations, and legislative lobbying.

Margo Hertlein '81, Olympia, is a field director for the Pacific Peaks Girl Scout Council. She supervises adult volunteers in Mason, Thurston, and Lewis Counties and provides programs for girls. She is actively involved as a vice president for the board of trustees of the State Capitol Museum and serves on Evergreen's Alumni board.

Molly Holscher '80, Olympia, is employed by the State of Washington as an interviewer. Her duties include processing claims for unemployment for the Employment Security Department.

Darrel Howe '81, Gig Harbor, WA, is self-employed as a designer on construction of family dwellings, with an emphasis on architectural engineering. He is an active member of the Audubon Society and a part-time design consultant for local builders in energy use and conservation.

Lyda Hunt '80, Olympia, is employed by VISTA-ACTION as a fund-raising director and Youth Job readiness coordinator. She is also a Cub Scout Pack Committee chairwoman.

Dick Jones '79, Olympia, is a news photographer for KSTW-TV.

Bruce Alan Jordan '81, Olympia, is applying to graduate school to pursue an M.A. degree in philosophy.

Andy Keller '80, Fernandino Beach, FL, is employed as an instructor for the Hurricane Island Outward Bound School in northern Florida. He works with juvenile delinquents, taking them on a 380-mile canoe trip across Florida and Georgia. Andy writes that he has been very busy since graduation. He's worked as a YCC crew leader and naturalist in Alaska. He's kayaked, backpacked, built a log house and worked for the Southeast Alaska Conservation Council in Juneau. As if that isn't enough, he also worked as a park naturalist for the Arches Big Bend and Olympic National Parks.

Sandra Kent '78, Miami Beach, FL, is employed by the University of Miami as a teacher. She is teaching English as a second language, developing materials, and individualizing the lab. She received her MA degree from Portland State University.

Susan Culbertson Kerber '80, Lacey, WA, is working for Sound Home Health Services as a special assistant to the executive director. She has applied to Evergreen's graduate program in public administration. Susan is also the proud mother of Leland Ray, born in June of 1981.

Steven Kernes '79, Port Angeles, WA, is the Clallam County Sheriff. He has attended the University of Virginia where he worked toward an MA degree in public administration. His community activities include service on boards of directors for the Washington Association of County Officials, and MAST Helicopters.

Kathryn Knutson '79, Seattle, is employed by the Sumner School District as a third grade teacher.

Robin Lane '81, Olympia, is employed by Planned Parenthood, Seattle-King County, as clinic supervisor in Thurston and Mason Counties. She manages clinics in both counties and does most of the consulting.

Chad Lewis '73, Everett, has been granted tenure on the faculty of Everett Community College.

Kathy Lusher '79, Prosser, WA, is completing a four-year apprenticeship in Japan studying ceramics under an international authority.

Ann Malsean '81, Olympia, is working for the Washington State Energy Office in the Conservation Division. She's working on two projects: The Biennial Report (assessing conservation potential in the industrial sector) and on a new Residential Energy Efficiency Rating System.

Ross Matteson '80, Olympia, is vice-president for Westsound Recording Inc. He co-manages the business, which is centered around audio recording of musical productions.

Laurie McDermott '81, Portland, OR, is employed by the Bureau of Alcohol and Substance Abuse as a senior alcoholism counselor where she administers and delivers outpatient alcoholism treatment. She is applying to Lewis and Clark College to study for an MA degree in counseling psychology.

Announcements

Evergreen's Alumni Association is briefly explained in a new brochure produced by the Communications Committee. Included is an application for membership. If you'd like to learn more about the association, or get copies of the brochure to distribute to interested friends, call or write the Alumni Office.

Are you an Alumni business person? If so, Ellie would like one of your business cards for display in the Alumni Office. And while you're at it, let us know about any current events in your life (new job, marriage, children, or other feats of daring) for the AlumNotes.

Alums to Host Student Lunches

Whoever said there was no such thing as a "free lunch" obviously wasn't acquainted with Alumni Association members and their determination to encourage prospective students to visit the campus.

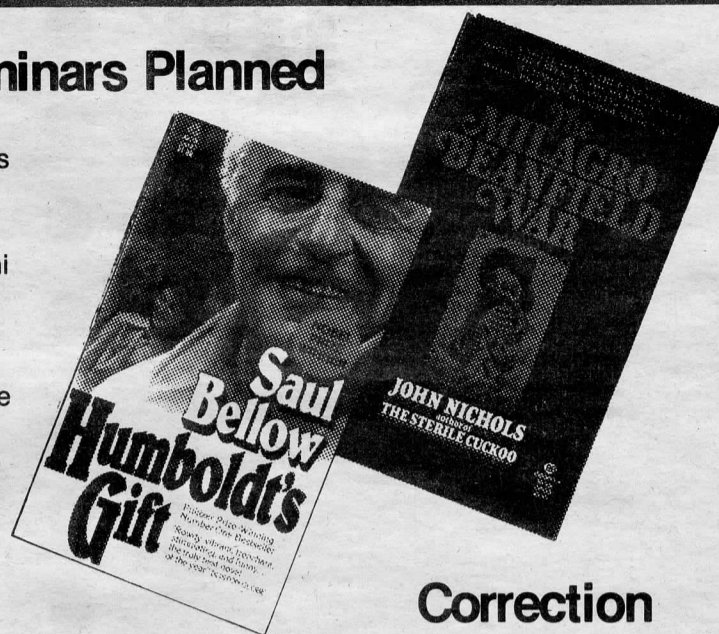

Thanks to suggestions from a dedicated alumni team, the Association has agreed to host lunches on campus for up to 150 student visitors during the 1982-83 academic year. All interested students have to do is make advance arrangements for lunch through the Admissions Office. Alumni are encouraged to refer potential Geoducks to the Admissions Office for complete details.

More Book Seminars Planned

Many alums remember book seminars as the best of times at Evergreen (and occasionally the worst). For those who miss knocking heads over a good book, the Alumni Association will continue to sponsor monthly book seminars this year.

Alumna Margo Hertlein and Carmen Hanna began the seminars last winter, and held three seminars at the college. Along with other interested alums, they seminareed on The Evergreen Experience, by faculty member Dr. Richard Jones; Humboldt's Gift, by Saul Bellow; and The Milagro Beanfield War, by John Nichols. Jones led the first seminar, and faculty member Eric Larsen attended the second. Wine and cheese were served, and the ambience of the library board room made for pleasant evening discussions.

Books for this year's seminars have yet to be selected and Margo invites any suggestions on both fiction and non-fiction. She'll invite faculty members to attend seminars and is also

Correction

In the Spring 1982 edition of the Evergreen Review, faculty member Mary F. Nelson was quoted as saying, "Fifty percent of incarcerated youth in America today are non-white, yet few of the people in my class ("Problem Youth") could understand why we studied [other] cultures." Her statement should have read, "yet a few of the people in my class could not understand why we studied [other] cultures." We apologize for the error.

planning a special presentation by faculty member Lovern King, who led a feminist literary tour of Britain this summer.

Margo and Carmen both hope more seminar groups will be started in other communities. If you're interested in initiating a new service or need information about the next Olympia meeting, contact Ellie in the Alumni Office at 866-6566.

Kelly McGrew '81, Olympia, is employed by the Employment Security Department as a word processing operator. In her spare time, she is involved in politics.

Merrill McSpadden '82, Seattle, has been accepted to the University of Washington Graduate School of Psychology.

Mark Meredith '81, Bozeman, MT, has received his teacher certification in physical education/health/athletic training from Montana State University. He is preparing for his professional examination as an athletic trainer.

Steven Douglas Miller '81, Tacoma, WA, is employed by Tacoma Boat-building Company as a word processing operator.

Susan Davenport Moore '81, Olympia, is presently on maternity leave. She is planning to seek her masters degree in organizational and personnel development. She is actively involved in promoting the Olympia Jazz Community.

Jonathan Morris '80, San Jose, CA, is employed by Intel Corporation as a software evaluation engineer. He has applied to both Stanford and the University of California at Berkeley for admission to a masters program.

Roland Morris '80, Milwaukie, OR, is attending Portland State University to complete his teaching certificate in music.

Sue Moser '81, Snohomish, WA, is both self-employed as a private piano teacher and is also employed by Everett Community College where she teaches pedagogy. She is secretary for the Washington State Music Teachers and division chairman for membership in the Music Teachers National Association. She plays clarinet in the Everett Community College band, plays woodwind in the ECC playhouse orchestra and gives woodwind workshops in local schools. Sue is also in charge of the Young Artist Master Series for Snohomish County Music Teachers.

Sharon Murphy '81, Berkeley, CA, is attending the University of California at Berkeley, studying for her masters degree in nutrition.

Roger Nedrow '81, Vancouver, WA, is an assistant manager for Clark County School Employees Credit Union.

Chris Nelson '79, Olympia, is self-employed as the owner/operator of Sound Media productions. In his spare time, he is initiating a contemporary traveling museum of counter-cultural activities.

Linda Nelson '81, Lynnwood, WA, is the proud mother of a baby born in March. She is attending Seattle University, working toward her degree in counseling.

Carolyn Norred '79, Rainier, OR, is a part-time English instructor at Lower Columbia College.

Rick Olson '81, Vancouver, WA is studying for his law degree at Lewis and Clark College/Northwestern School of Law.

Leslie Oren '81, Los Angeles, CA, is an administrative assistant for the National Energy Foundation where she coordinates educational programs on energy for high school students and raises funds. Leslie is also writing and setting up a freelance editing/proof-reading/typing service.

Gila Osheroff '79, North Miami, FL, is a summer intern in marketing/conservation with Florida Power and Light. She is coordinating and analyzing a low-income conservation project which will be her MS thesis. She is attending the University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, working toward her MS degree in energy/management. Gila also completed the course load for a MS in Applied Solar Energy at Trinity University.

Sabrina Patterson '81, Tempe, AZ, is a volunteer naturalist for Point Reyes Bird Observatory for the summer. She is involved in the National Audubon Society/Tempe Chapter.

Richard Pass '81, Vancouver, WA, is employed by Blue Cross of Oregon as a programmer analyst responsible for the design, program and maintenance of computer systems. He is involved in the Knights of Columbus.

Timothy Pearce '77, Olympia, is employed by U.S. Fish and Wildlife as a biological technician. He will be attending the University of California at Berkeley to earn a MA degree in land molluscan ecology.

Mary Barbara Petersen '79, Vancouver, WA, is employed by the State of Washington as a case worker.

Kenneth Phillipson '80, Olympia, is employed by the Washington State Department of Fisheries as a biologist technician. He is applying to graduate school to obtain his degree in fisheries.

Mary Prevost '79, Olympia, received her J.D. degree from the University of Puget Sound School of Law this May.

Michael Price '79, Tokyo, Japan, will be working as a senior quality control specialist for the National Foreign Language Institute of Science and Technology. He will translate and rewrite technical papers and develop test materials for the company's school in technical writing and translation. Michael will also be applying to graduate school to obtain his M.D./Ph.D. in medicine/biophysics.

Rozanne Rants '79, Tumwater, WA, is a day treatment counselor for the Community Mental Health Center. She works half-time as a counselor for a group of elderly chronically mentally ill people. She also is a licensed massage therapist at the Wellness House in Olympia.

David Rauh '79, Olympia, has been elected president of the Crisis Clinic of Thurston and Mason Counties for 1982-83.

Marsha Jane Reagan '78, Santa Fe, NM, has been named program director for Cable Channel 6, TV, in Santa Fe. She also hosts a half-hour magazine show entitled "Good Day Santa Fe," airing weekdays at 7 a.m. Marsha married Bob Sellie on Valentine's Day, 1982.

James Reandeau '80, Pasco, WA, is employed as a financial service technician for the Department of Social and Health Services.

Paul Reed '82, Olympia, is working at Cork 'n Crock as a retail clerk/cashier/food preparer. He and his wife are living at Evergreen's Organic Farm, where she is caretaker.

Leonard Jay Reiersen '81, Seaside, OR, is studying at the United States Marine Corps Officer School.

Jan Rensel '74, Boulder, CO, is self-employed, working on contract and/or grant basis, for groups like the American Institute of Architects or American Forest Institute, doing staff development for K-12 teachers. Jan has recently returned from 3 1/2 months sailing with Australian friends in Indonesia.

Katie Rodgers '79, Olympia, is self-employed as a life insurance agent.

Pearl Hardin Rose '76, Tacoma, WA, has been awarded a scholarship by the Rotary Foundation of Rotary International. Rose was selected to represent the United States and Canada as a Rotary Ambassador of Goodwill and further her study and research as "teacher of the handicapped." She is a Technical Assistance Corp. member, who provides consultation on the needs of the disabled to higher education throughout the United States.

Lisa Sampson '81, Boulder, CO, is self-employed as a massage therapist. She is actively involved in the Rocky Mountain Healing Arts Institute where she serves as a student representative.

Muffy (Martha) Schackman-Green '81, Olympia, is employed as a conference coordinator at Evergreen.

Ronald Scheel '79, Tenino, WA, is self-employed as a manager for private forest land. After graduation from TESC, he designed and drafted his personal residence, but has not yet built it. He also worked as management analyst for Washington State Department of Social and Health Services. His duties involved office analysis and medical review. He was also a construction worker in Kelso when the Cowlitz River project was underway in 1980.

Joseph Schlick '80, Cerrillos, NM, is self-employed as a recording engineer and producer. He works independently for Kludgit Sound, Cerrillos, NM. He also designs, promotes, and produces rock and roll records.

David Schneider '79, Yakima, WA, is employed by KNDO TV, Channel 23, in the position of master control. He also is a member of the Yakima slow pitch association playing for Mr. C's Pizza.

Mary (Hoffman) Schroeder '74, Seattle, is the proud parent of a second daughter born March 12.

Chuck Shelton '76, Pasadena, CA, is presently executive director of a national conference on the Church and Peacemaking in the Nuclear Age which will be held in May, 1983. The conference will feature nationally-known speakers and will encourage evangelical Christians to study the nuclear arms race and act responsibly in view of the nuclear threat.

Suzanne Shelton '76, Pasadena, CA, will receive her masters degree in marriage and family counseling next spring from Fuller Theological Seminary in Pasadena, CA.

Lois Shields '79, Centralia, WA, is self-employed as a partner in The Herb Cottage. She belongs to the Lewis County Art League and the Fleet Reserve Association.

Sergio Siani, Arlington, MA, is employed by Energy Design Team on its technical staff. He has applied to Northeastern University for admission to a masters degree program in mechanical engineering.

Mark Stephen Souder '80, Portland, OR, is employed by The Bee as a graphic artist responsible for production, layout, customer relations, graphic design, and typesetting.

Dana Squires '79, Olympia, is self-employed as an artist. In her spare time, she is the art director for the Lost Music Network and OP magazine.

Molly Staley '77, Seattle, has received her masters of social work from the University of Washington.

Kathleen Steele '78, Redmond, WA, is a recreation supervisor for Seattle University. She was accepted at the University of Oregon where she will be studying for her MA degree in recreation administration. Her classes begin in the fall of 1983.

Peter Stevens '79, Portland, OR, is an engineer for Tektronix, Inc.

Dorothy Stewart '79, Vancouver, WA, is on a public assistance/disability grant working with the Campus Ministries Program in Vancouver.

Sherie Story '79, Olympia, is employed as an assistant director for the Washington State Board for Community College Education.

Conni Stroppe '79, Mercer Island, WA, is employed as a layout artist by the Mercer Island Reporter, a weekly newspaper. She was featured in Seattle Voice Magazine's portfolio section last February. She is working on new photos and looking for a place to show them.

Marilynn Sturdevant '80, Camas, WA, is self-employed, setting up her own employee assistance consulting business. She is actively involved in fund raising for high school sports and church.

Roberta Tidland '78, Camas, WA, is working on a masters of divinity degree at the American Baptist School of the West, Berkeley, CA. Roberta is a volunteer for the Southwest Washington Area on Aging Board.

Christopher Lee Vancil '81, Bremerton, WA, is working on various art related activities and also works in several galleries.

Mitch Volburg '81, Olympia, is employed by the Cork 'n Crock. He is still involved in his artwork and is preparing a show portfolio.

Steve Wellman '81, Olympia, is a classification counselor for the Washington Correction Center. He is attending Pacific Lutheran University, studying psychological counseling for his MA degree.

Patricia Wheatley '81, Port Angeles, WA, is the mother of three children and a part-time floral designer for Safeway. She is a member of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority and is helping start an organization for self-employed women.

Greg Wichelns '81, Palouse, WA, is employed as a lab technician by the University of Idaho. He is attending Washington State University, seeking his MS degree in plant physiology.

Fran Williams '82, Olympia, is employed by Upward Bound as a counselor.

Patricia L. Williams '80, Olympia, works as a teacher for Olympia Technical Community College, and is attending Fort Steilacoom College to study dental hygiene.

Douglas Wold '75, Seattle, is married and has a one-year-old daughter, Ellie. He is running a small business out of his home.

Address Correction Requested
Forwarding and Return
Postage Guaranteed

National Campaign Launched

College members are reaching out to alumni all over the country to establish a strong national network of Evergreeners. Why? Because the college needs your involvement in order to survive and thrive.

Evergreen is experiencing the same decline in enrollment as are colleges and universities all over the nation. However, the Washington state legislature has said that Evergreen must grow in order to remain essential in a time when legislators are exploring hundreds of expense-cutting and revenue-producing options. In fact, a few legislators even proposed that Evergreen be closed!

Your help is needed in the following areas:

- Participating in high school college nights and academic fairs
- Organizing receptions for prospective students and their parents
- Contacting state legislators and federal officials
- Organizing alumni gatherings in your area

- Raising funds for scholarships, library and art acquisitions, student and faculty research, and other areas which are being cut back or eliminated due to budget reductions.
- Sponsoring and/or supervising new internships.
- Sharing job information with new graduates.

If you can help in any of these areas, please fill out the form below and mail it to: Ellie Dornan, Alumni Coordinator, TESC, Olympia, Washington 98505 or call (206) 866-6566.

TESC Alumni Volunteer Network

You bet I'll help! Let me know where you need me in the following areas:

- | | |
|------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------|
| <input type="checkbox"/> Admissions assistance | <input type="checkbox"/> Internships |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Legislative relations | <input type="checkbox"/> Job networking |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Fund raising | <input type="checkbox"/> Alumni receptions |

Name

Home Address

Occupation/Business Address

Home Phone

Work Phone