

NEWS

The Evergreen State College
Olympia, Washington 98505

for immediate release
May 14, 1976

for further information
Judy Annis, 866-6128

Nineteen professional representatives from the employment fields of counseling and social services and representatives from three graduate schools will participate in an all day Job and Graduate School Information Day at The Evergreen State College May 26.

The event, planned to offer Evergreen students an opportunity to discuss careers in counseling and social services, is sponsored by the Office of Career Planning and Placement. Activities will begin at 9 a.m. in room 3112 of the Evans Library Building.

Professional representatives include Jeanne Rehwinkel, program director of Women's Programs in Continuing Education; Kodell Wallace, therapist for the (Everett) Multi-Service Center; John Drake, Human Relations Advisory specialist for the Human Relations Task Force; Barbara Cooper, administrative assistant for the Mental Health, Social and Vocational Adjustment Center in Seattle; Ron O'Conner, social worker for Group Health; Thom O'Rourke, associate planner for Thurston Regional Planning Council; Lucy Thomas, counseling manager for Seattle Opportunities Industrial Center.

Sharon Morelan, counselor for Thurston-Mason County Community Mental Health; Jan Perez, therapy supervisor for Western State Hospital; Jim Walton, executive director of the Human Relations Commission in Tacoma; Marty Ormond, assistant superintendent of Cedar Creek Youth Camp; John Soltman, director of Southwest Washington Alcoholism Recovery Foundation; Orval Taylor, coordinator for Office of Cooperative Programs, Department of Social and Health Services; Doug Vinzant, director of Bureau of Juvenile Rehabilitation; Bill Hilliard, executive secretary of Washington State Human Rights Commission; Arthur Simmons, executive director of Center for Addiction Services in Seattle; Meg Aldridge, counselor at Capital High School; John Pariseau, director of recreational programs for the

-MORE-

Dick Nichols, Director
Information Services

University of Washington; Don Clark, director of Olympia Parks and Recreation; and Al Tweit, coordinator of physical education and recreation, Olympia School District.

Representatives from graduate schools at Western Washington State College, the University of Washington and Portland State University will also be on hand to explain their programs in counseling and social services.