

The Evergreen State College
Sixteenth Annual Commencement Ceremonies
1987

The Evergreen State College
Commencement Ceremonies

The gift offered by the 1987 Class is a housepost. The housepost will be part of the Longhouse, which we hope the College will build in the next few years. The above drawing by Andrew Wilbur shows the upper portion of a housepost used to support the main structure of a traditional Salish Longhouse. Houseposts were carved as a measure of respect for the culture and the material the carver used for the house. Contributions towards the Longhouse may be sent to The Evergreen State College Foundation.

Welcome

President Joseph D. Olander, Ph.D.

Invitation from the Alumni Association

Christina Koons Baker, '81

Guest Speaker

Hon. Shirley Chisholm former Congresswoman from New York, was the senior Democratic woman in the U.S. House of Representatives. She was the only woman, and the only Black American, to sit on the powerful House Rules Committee, and she was a leading member of the Congressional Black Caucus.

In 1972, Congresswoman Shirley Chisholm made history by seriously campaigning for the Democratic party nomination for President: the first Black woman to seek the nation's highest office. Although she was not successful, her name, her ideas, and her commitment, became imbedded in America's consciousness.

Mrs. Chisholm is the author of two books: Unbought and Unbossed, her autobiography; and The Good Fight, the story of her 1972 bid for the Presidency.

In February, 1982, Rep. Chisholm announced that she would not seek reelection to the Congress. She cited her longstanding intention never to remain in politics throughout her productive and creative life, and she revealed the frustration and difficulty of serving her constituents while conservatives control government in Washington. By writing, teaching, lecturing and traveling around the nation, Mrs. Chisholm hopes to create a new national state of mind that demands peace and equality for all Americans.

Mrs. Chisholm obtained her undergraduate and graduate degree from Columbia University, New York. In addition, she has been awarded honorary degrees from many colleges and universities.

The Evergreen State College Ceremonial Mace

Originally a weapon of offense used in medieval warfare by a king or a great noble, the mace has been refined into a symbolic device used on ceremonial occasions. As an academic device, the mace goes back to 16th century England when Queen Elizabeth I presented a replica of her own royal mace to the corporation of the University of Oxford in 1589. She ordered that it be used in all ceremonies to represent the royal presence and the authority granted to the university to issue degrees under the royal insignia. King Charles I made a similar gift to Cambridge University in 1625. Since that time, it has become increasingly the custom for European, and now American, colleges and universities to use ceremonial maces during graduation exercises.

The Evergreen State College ceremonial mace was carried at the head of the commencement procession for the first time during the 1982 graduation. The mace is rich in symbolism. Beginning with a square core of Eastern Maple, narrow strips of laminated maple and walnut are attached to the core in a cross design. At the open corners, bubinga, a wood red in color and rich in grain, is inserted. The resulting three-foot column was lathed round and represents the tree of life. Nine grooves inlaid with copper denote the nine levels of life from animal spirit to enlightenment. The copper bands suggest the bonding forces of life.

The cap of the Mace was turned from a single block of locally grown black walnut. The shape is suggestive of a crown and represents the principal integration of knowledge and experience. To remind us that such an integration is a carefully balanced blend of diverse aspects of human nature, there are inlaid four circles symbolizing the four major ways of experiencing the world: thinking, feeling, intuiting and sensing, and the four main characteristics of the human mind: wisdom, innocence, introspection, and illumination.

Incorporated into this crown is a unique feature: the center is hollow and has in it a sealed vial. It is intended that each year the graduation planning committee will have written one page, to be microfilmed and placed in the vial. Each year the committee will examine the document placed in the mace for the class ten years before and include in the ceremony some short reflection on that piece. The intention is that the mace is part of a living event that connects us to our past, demonstrates our belief and faith in our future and maintains a connection between the two.

The Evergreen State College Mace is the gift of former Academic Vice President and Provost, Byron Youtz, who donated the materials and faculty member, Earle McNeil, who gave his time and talent to its creation.

Geoduc Fight Song

1. Go, Geoducs go,
Through the mud and the sand,
let's go.
Siphon high, squirt it out,
swivel all about,
let it all hang out.
2. Go, Geoducs go,
Stretch your neck when the tide
is low.
Siphon high, squirt it out,
swivel all about,
let it all hang out.

Academic Procession and Regalia

The colorful Academic Procession at Evergreen features a faculty column through which candidates pass in symbolic review.

The history of academic dress dates far back into the early days of the oldest universities. A statute of 1321 required that all Doctors, Licentiates, and Bachelors of the University of Coimbra (Portugal) wear gowns.

Although the origin of academic dress is still uncertain, most authorities believe its sources are found chiefly in ecclesiastical rather than in civilian dress.

Originally the hood was a Tippet, or shoulder covering, worn by begging Friars in the Middle Ages. It also served as a head covering. When caps came into fashion in the fifteenth century, hoods became ornamental and were draped over the shoulder and down the back. The cap was conferred as a symbol of the Master's Degree and varied greatly. Some were stiff, some soft, some square or round with a tuft in the center. The tassel today is an elaboration of the tuft. The "mortar board" style is from Oxford, but round and soft caps are also worn today at some universities.

The practice of wearing academic dress in this country dates from 1754 when King George II chartered King's College (now Columbia College) and transplanted to the Colonies many of the regulations of Oxford and Cambridge. In time, more sombre colors replaced the scarlet of the English universities. During most of the nineteenth century, American colleges and universities had no standard style of academic dress. Many faculty wore gowns from European universities where they received their degrees or gowns of local origin. Only a few wore hoods, which often were assumed to be articles of ecclesiastical rather than academic dress.

It wasn't until 1895 that a commission of leading American educators adopted a code standardizing academic dress. That code is still in effect today although it was modified slightly in 1935 and again in 1960. The shape and size of the American hood marks the college degree of the wearer, and under the system established by the code, it is possible at an academic convocation to distinguish at a glance the Bachelor's, Master's, and Doctor's, and at the same time recognize the university or college from which the degree was obtained. Evergreen's colors are forest green and white.

The code provides for three types of gowns. Those worn by the Bachelors are made of black worsted material and have long pointed sleeves with two pleats on either side. The graduating students at Evergreen, however, have opted for a dark green gown. Masters may wear either black silk or woolen gowns made with long crescent-shaped, full-length sleeves. The gown has a closed front with fluted shoulders. The Doctors' gowns are black silk and they have full flowing sleeves barred with black or blue velvet and faced with velvet over their entire length. Our Board of Trustees Members wear specially designed attire.

It is the hood which is the most important and distinctive feature of the American code. The Master's hood is three and one-half feet long with a three-inch wide velvet band. The Doctor's hood is four feet long with a five-inch velvet band. The velvet band of the hood symbolizes the wearer's field of study while the lining of the hood recognizes the official colors of the institution from which the degree was granted.
