FOR RELEASE

August 13, 1970

Donald O. Nickolaus, previously a systems analyst with the State Department of General Administration, has joined the staff of The Evergreen State College at Olympia as a senior systems analyst for fiscal management.

Nickolaus, 36, will be responsible for the development of a computerized college accounting system and a financial reporting system for management information, according to Director of Computer Services Robert L. Barringer.

A business administration major, Nickolaus received his bachelor's degree from Idaho State College in 1956. Prior to joining the State Department of General Administration in 1969, he had spent nine years as an accounting and systems analysis employee of The Boeing Company at Renton.
