...KORMONDY NAMES NEW REGISTRAR...Walker M. Allen, Director of Admissions for Wright State University, Dayton, Ohio, has been appointed Evergreen Registrar. The appointment, effective about February 15, was announced by Vice President and Provost Ed Kormondy.

Allen, 36, served as Registrar at Wright State from 1965 to 1972, when he became Director of Admissions. He has also served as Registrar and head of student recruitment at Sinclair Community College in Dayton, and has worked in advertising. Allen received a bachelor's degree in psychology from Miami University (Ohio) in 1962 and a master's degree in personnel counseling from Wright State in 1968. He replaces former Registrar Perrin Smith, who resigned last summer.

...ENROLLMENT DOWN WINTER QUARTER...Enrollment estimates show that Evergreen will have about 200 less students by the tenth class day Winter Quarter. Provost Ed Kormondy says the Winter Quarter figure is likely to total about 2,125 students, compared with 2,327 last fall. Kormondy's estimate takes into account the departure of 324 students: 174 who requested leaves of absence, 60 who withdrew, 39 who graduated at the end of Fall Quarter, and 51 who were disenrolled. Kormondy estimates an additional 75 "special" students will enroll for part-time studies this week and will join 2,050 regular students for a total of 2,125. No students were admitted from the Winter Quarter waiting list.

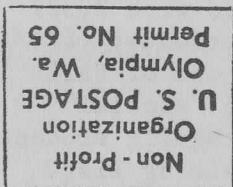

...CHILE SYMPOSIUM TO DRAW LATIN AMERICAN AUTHORITIES HERE JAN. 25-26...A two-day Northwest Symposium on Chile will bring four of the nation's foremost authorities on Latin America to Evergreen January 25 and 26. Organized by students in the Evergreen Latin American Studies group, the two-day event is expected to draw collegians and professors from most of the west coast's social science programs, and is open to the general public free of charge.

Evergreen Faculty Member Charles Nisbet, an economist who has traveled and studied extensively in Chile, said the symposium will feature four prominent guest speakers: Dr. Richard Fagan, professor of political science at Stanford University and president-elect of the Latin American Studies Association; Dr. Jorge Neff, visiting professor of political science at the University of California at Santa Barbara and formerly a professor at the University of Chile; Dr. James Petras, professor of political science at the State University of New York and recent author of "Ballots Into Bullets: Epitaph for a Peaceful Revolution," published by Ramparts Magazine; and Dr. Maurice Zietlin, a professor of sociology at the University of Wisconsin who is considered one of the foremost Latin American sociologists in the United States.

Primary emphasis of the two-day meeting, according to Nisbet, will be the military coup last fall that led to the overthrow and death of President Salvador Allende. At the time of his death Allende was attempting to establish a socialistic government in Chile using the country's traditional democratic processes. Allende was chosen in free elections in 1970.

Seven students are spearheading the symposium. Their interest developed during a seminar of Nisbet's academic study group "Revolt In/By Economics" and has since attracted the participation of students from outside the program, Nisbet said. Persons interested in attending the conference or obtaining more information should contact Nisbet at 866-6726.

...WINTER QUARTER WORKSHOPS OFFERED...Nine art workshops and two recreational programs are offered Winter Quarter to Evergreeners and the general public for nominal fees. Pete Steilberg, director of recreation and campus activities, said registration for the programs began January 2 and will continue until full enrollments are reached. Offered as non-credit supplements to the academic program, the workshops are taught by a variety of highly skilled artists and teachers.

Winter Quarter art sessions cover leather work, silkscreening, modern dance, ballet, ceramics, calligraphy, still photography and four different aspects of jewelry making. The recreational workshops are taught by Seattle mountaineer Bob Jenson and offer instruction in mountaineering and ski touring. Persons interested in enrolling in any of the sessions should call the College Recreation Center, 866-6532.

...THIRTY-NINE GRADUATE IN DECEMBER...Thirty-nine Evergreen seniors completed degree requirements the end of Fall Quarter. Among the new graduates were four persons from Olympia, six from Tacoma, three each from Bremerton, Seattle and Vancouver, two from Auburn, and one each from Aberdeen, Bellingham, Bellevue, Gig Harbor, Goldendale, Mesa, Richland and Yakima. Ten out-of-state students also graduates in December.

...LEGISLATIVE INTERNS NAMED...Five Evergreeners have been selected to participate in the 1973 State Legislative Intern program, according to Ken Donohue, director of the Office of Cooperative Education. Selected to participate in the intern study program, which allows students to work with legislators in session, are: Rebecca Borman of Branford, Connecticut; Rob Krell, Spokane; Don Martin, Yakima; Brent Normoyle, Olympia and Tundi Osunsanmi, Lagos, Nigeria.

...SENIOR PUBLISHED BOOK ON KARATE...Steve Armstrong, a Tacoma senior at Evergreen has published his first book, "Seisan Kata of Isshinryu Karate" with Ohara Publishing Company of Los Angeles, California. Armstrong, holder of a black belt in karate, is currently instructing nearly 500 students at his own karate schools and clubs throughout the State of Washington, in addition to studying full-time at Evergreen.
