A student newspaper may hit the presses at The Evergreen State College by spring quarter. In its monthly meeting the Evergreen Board of Trustees approved creation of a Board of Publications which, when appointed, will select a student editor and begin production of "The Paper", which has been out of circulation since last June.

The Board adopted a governance policy for The Paper which Evergreen President Charles J. McCann said, "places a lot of responsibility in the editorship." Drafted by a cross section of the campus community, the newspaper's governance policy calls for creation of a five-member board composed of two students selected at random by computer, two faculty members and a professional journalist to be appointed by the president.

Students began organization meetings for a newspaper this week and hope to be ready to go with "The Paper" as soon as the Pub Board names an editor.

In other business, the Board voted to modify the college's master plan for additional on-campus housing. The plan originally called for construction of eight new units by fall of 1974 which would house an additional 425 students. Because of a reduction in enrollment projections and a freeze on federal subsidies from the Department of Housing and Urban Development, the college board voted to cut back the number of structures from eight to five and reduce the number of accommodations from 425 beds to 300. The Board also approved the sale of $3,072,000 in bonds to finance the proposed new structures.

A total of $2,625,000 in bonds was also approved for sale by the Board for an addition to the College Activities Building, which is scheduled for completion by fall of 1975.
