Twenty-five recreational and 19 artistic workshops and organized activities are being offered Spring Quarter through The Evergreen State College Office of Recreation and Campus Activities.

The workshops, described in detail in a new Spring Quarter brochure available through the Recreation Center Office, span a wide variety of interests and activities and are open to all interested community members for nominal fees.

Registration, held from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. weekdays in room 302 of the Recreation Center, offers persons a chance to take to the water for scuba diving, sailing or senior lifesaving; to try their feet at folk and square dancing, to learn the ancient arts of aikido, judo, karate, and T'ai Chi Chuan.

Opportunities are also listed in basic mountaineering, bicycling, summit climbing, hiking, kayaking, rock climbing, and ski touring. For the out-of-shape, there are three physical conditioning programs: an exercise program, weight training, and yoga. For the sports-minded, guidance is available in archery, racketball, rugby, softball, tennis and women's track.

Artists, too, have their chance to try their talents at silkscreening, ballet, ceramics, jazz dance, writing, still photography, five different jewelry making techniques, four varieties of modern dance, work with wood, and two different programs working with stained glass.

For more information, community residents are invited to call 866-6210.
