David Gallagher, a visiting faculty member in wood sculpture at The Evergreen State College, will present an illustrated lecture on "Contemporary Wood: Functional and Non-Functional" in a free public program February 18 beginning at 7:30 p.m. in Evergreen's Lecture Hall Five.

Gallagher, who exhibited his finely honed wood sculpture in a faculty art show at Evergreen last Fall, has displayed his work throughout the Pacific Northwest. He recently earned his master of fine arts degree from the University of Washington. He also has a bachelor of arts degree from Central Washington State College.

His talk, which will be accompanied by slides, is the seventh in the Winter Quarter lecture series on "Craftsmen in Contemporary Society", which continues through March 10.
