

NEWS

The Evergreen State College
Olympia, Washington 98505

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

April 19, 1974

Robert W. Corrigan, author, editor and professor of English at the University of Michigan, will discuss "The Transformation of the Avant Garde" in a free public lecture at The Evergreen State College April 25 at 7 p.m. in Lecture Hall Three.

Corrigan, first president of the California Institute of the Arts, is the editor of the Dell Classics Series and founder of the Tulane Drama Review. He earned his bachelor of arts degree in classical literature from Cornell University, his master's degree from John Hopkins University and his doctorate in dramatic literature from the University of Minnesota.

Corrigan's 19-year-old son Michael is an Evergreen freshman.

####

Dick Nichols, Director
Information Services