Donald C. Mace, 49, of Richland, has been hired as a construction coordinator for The Evergreen State College at Olympia, according to Director of Facilities Planning Jerry L. Schillinger. He will begin his duties immediately.

Mace will be responsible for on-site inspection and coordination of two major construction projects on the college campus--an excavation, road paving and drainage job scheduled to begin soon and erection of the library, slated to start next February.

A construction inspector for 26 years, Mace recently completed an assignment at the Center For Graduate Study in Richland. During the last four years, he also has served as a construction inspector for public school buildings, a new $8 million post office and federal building in the Tri-Cities area.

Mace and his wife Margaret are the parents of four children.
